

PRESS RELEASE:

Women's Industry Network Accepting 2012 Board Applications

Dallas, TX
January 13, 2012

In keeping true to their motto, “Driving the Future for Women in Collision Repair,” the WIN Nominating Committee is now accepting applications for seats on the WIN Board. The Board consists of various industry segments including but not limited to: shop owners, jobbers, suppliers, consultants, paint companies and insurance companies. Aside from the WIN annual Conference in May volunteer WIN Board members work together to foster an environment that encourages the education, recruitment, retention and networking of women in the collision repair industry.

“Within a short time, the Women’s Industry Network has grown in size, produced informative and motivational events, and become a recognized industry association through volunteer efforts, industry sponsorships and the enthusiasm of the WIN membership. WIN is all volunteer. Volunteering for the WIN Board is an outstanding opportunity to have a present and future influence on our industry. If you are motivated to “drive the future for women in collision repair, apply for the WIN Board.” said Denise Caspersen, of ASA, chair of the WIN Nominating Committee.

The deadline for applications is February 24, 2012. For application requirements and further details go to www.womensindustrynetwork.com . Completed applications should be mailed or PDF copy emailed to WIN Nominating Committee; c/o ASA – Denise Caspersen; 8190 Precinct Line, Suite 100, Colleyville, Texas 76034. For further information please contact Denise Caspersen, phone: (817) 514-2906; email: denisec@asashop.org
